

Solo Exhibition

Thu, 25 Mar 2021 to Sat, 10 Apr 2021

Cooee Art Redfern

COOEE ART

Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Gabori Sally

Dibirdibi Country, 2009

synthetic polymer paint on linen #19015

101 x 151 cm

Framed: $ | Unframed: $

PROVENANCE

Mirdiyan Gununa, Mornington Island Arts, Qld
Private Collection, NSW

Illustrated: The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Djon Mundine and Candida Baker, pg 131

Exhibited: Solo Exhibition Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Sally Gabori, Cooee Redfern, March 25 - April 10 2021

Sally Gabori first picked up a paint brush in 2005 at 81 years of age. The Lardil people in the Kaiadilt community had little exposure to fine art, or any comparable form of mark-making, prior to that time. Traditional tools, objects, or bodies were scarcely painted, and the only recorded art that relates these stories was a group of drawings made at the request of ethnologist Norman B Tindale during his expedition to Bentinck Island in 1960, now housed in the South Australian Museum.

Her paintings are essentially concerned with meaningful sites, known through the artist's intimate association during a lifetime spent on Bentinck Island. These sites are associated with tidal movement, seasonal change, major climatic events such as drought, and flood, and the presence of plants, sea birds, animals, and aquatic life. Gabori was mindful of the ebb and flow of life over all the seasons that made up her long life. As Djon Mundine eloquently put it. 'Her works can be thought of as a memory walk, and a mapping of her physical and social memory of Bentinck Island'.*

* Djon Mundine, The Road to Bentinck Island: Sally Gabori, in The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Macmillan Art Publishing, Melbourne, 2015

COOEE ART GALLERY

A: 17 Thurlow Street, Redfern, NSW 2016. T: +612 9300 9233
E: info@cooeeart.com.au W: www.cooeeart.com.au ABN: 89 614 431 319

Solo Exhibition

Thu, 25 Mar 2021 to Sat, 10 Apr 2021

Cooee Art Redfern

COOEE ART

Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Gabori Sally

Dibirdibi Country, 2007

synthetic polymer paint on linen #19014

100 x 151 cm

Framed: $ | Unframed: $

PROVENANCE

Mirdiyan Gununa, Mornington Island Arts, Qld
Private Collection, NSW

Illustrated: The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Djon Mundine and Candida Baker, pg 22-23 and 113
Exhibited: Solo Exhibition Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Sally Gabori, Cooee Redfern, March 25 - April 10 2021

Sally Gabori first picked up a paint brush in 2005 at 81 years of age. The Lardil people in the Kaiadilt community had little exposure to fine art, or any comparable form of mark-making, prior to that time. Traditional tools, objects, or bodies were scarcely painted, and the only recorded art that relates these stories was a group of drawings made at the request of ethnologist Norman B Tindale during his expedition to Bentinck Island in 1960, now housed in the South Australian Museum.

Her paintings are essentially concerned with meaningful sites, known through the artist's intimate association during a lifetime spent on Bentinck Island. These sites are associated with tidal movement, seasonal change, major climatic events such as drought, and flood, and the presence of plants, sea birds, animals, and aquatic life. Gabori was mindful of the ebb and flow of life over all the seasons that made up her long life. As Djon Mundine eloquently put it. 'Her works can be thought of as a memory walk, and a mapping of her physical and social memory of Bentinck Island'.*

* Djon Mundine, The Road to Bentinck Island: Sally Gabori, in The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Macmillan Art Publishing, Melbourne, 2015

COOEE ART GALLERY

A: 17 Thurlow Street, Redfern, NSW 2016. T: +612 9300 9233
E: info@cooeeart.com.au W: www.cooeeart.com.au ABN: 89 614 431 319

Solo Exhibition

Thu, 25 Mar 2021 to Sat, 10 Apr 2021

Cooee Art Redfern

COOEE ART

Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Gabori Sally

Dibirdibi Country, 2008

synthetic polymer paint on linen #19013

100 x 197 cm

Framed: $ | Unframed: $

PROVENANCE

Mirndiyan Gununa, Mornington Island Arts, Qld
Pat Corrigan Collection, NSW

Illustrated: The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Djon Mundine and Candida Baker, pg 85

Exhibited: Solo Exhibition Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Sally Gabori, Cooee Redfern, March 25 - April 10 2021

Sally Gabori first picked up a paintbrush in 2005 at 81 years of age. The Lardil people in the Kaiadilt community had little exposure to fine art, or any comparable form of mark-making, prior to that time. Traditional tools, objects, or bodies were scarcely painted, and the only recorded art that relates these stories was a group of drawings made at the request of ethnologist Norman B Tindale during his expedition to Bentinck Island in 1960, now housed in the South Australian Museum.

Her paintings are essentially concerned with meaningful sites, known through the artist's intimate association during a lifetime spent on Bentinck Island. These sites are associated with tidal movement, seasonal change, major climatic events such as drought, and flood, and the presence of plants, sea birds, animals, and aquatic life. Gabori was mindful of the ebb and flow of life over all the seasons that made up her long life. As Djon Mundine eloquently put it. 'Her works can be thought of as a memory walk, and a mapping of her physical and social memory of Bentinck Island'*

* Djon Mundine, The Road to Bentinck Island: Sally Gabori, in The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Macmillan Art Publishing, Melbourne, 2015

COOEE ART GALLERY

A: 17 Thurlow Street, Redfern, NSW 2016. T: +612 9300 9233
E: info@cooeeart.com.au W: www.cooeeart.com.au ABN: 89 614 431 319

Solo Exhibition

Thu, 25 Mar 2021 to Sat, 10 Apr 2021

Cooee Art Redfern

COOEE ART

Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Gabori Sally

Dibirdibi Country, 2009

synthetic polymer paint on linen #19012

101 x 151 cm

Framed: $ | Unframed: $

PROVENANCE

Mornington Island Arts

Illustrated: The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Djon Mundine and Candida Baker, pg 151

Exhibited: Solo Exhibition Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Sally Gabori, Cooee Redfern, March 25 - April 10 2021

Sally Gabori first picked up a paintbrush in 2005 at 81 years of age. The Lardil people in the Kaiadilt community had little exposure to fine art, or any comparable form of mark-making, prior to that time. Traditional tools, objects, or bodies were scarcely painted, and the only recorded art that relates these stories was a group of drawings made at the request of ethnologist Norman B Tindale during his expedition to Bentinck Island in 1960, now housed in the South Australian Museum.

Her paintings are essentially concerned with meaningful sites, known through the artist's intimate association during a lifetime spent on Bentinck Island. These sites are associated with tidal movement, seasonal change, major climatic events such as drought, and flood, and the presence of plants, sea birds, animals, and aquatic life. Gabori was mindful of the ebb and flow of life over all the seasons that made up her long life. As Djon Mundine eloquently put it. 'Her works can be thought of as a memory walk, and a mapping of her physical and social memory of Bentinck Island'.*

* Djon Mundine, The Road to Bentinck Island: Sally Gabori, in The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Macmillan Art Publishing, Melbourne, 2015

COOEE ART GALLERY

A: 17 Thurlow Street, Redfern, NSW 2016. T: +612 9300 9233
E: info@cooeeart.com.au W: www.cooeeart.com.au ABN: 89 614 431 319

Solo Exhibition

Thu, 25 Mar 2021 to Sat, 10 Apr 2021

Cooee Art Redfern

COOEE ART

Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Gabori Sally

Dibirdibi Country, 2009

synthetic polymer paint on linen #19011

101 x 197 cm

Framed: $ | Unframed: $

PROVENANCE

Mirndiyan Gununa, Mornington Island Arts, Qld
Pat Corrigan Collection, NSW

Illustrated: The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Djon Mundine and Candida Baker, pg 123

Exhibited: Solo Exhibition Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Sally Gabori, Cooee Redfern, March 25 - April 10 2021

Sally Gabori first picked up a paintbrush in 2005 at 81 years of age. The Lardil people in the Kaiadilt community had little exposure to fine art, or any comparable form of mark-making, prior to that time. Traditional tools, objects, or bodies were scarcely painted, and the only recorded art that relates these stories was a group of drawings made at the request of ethnologist Norman B Tindale during his expedition to Bentinck Island in 1960, now housed in the South Australian Museum.

Her paintings are essentially concerned with meaningful sites, known through the artist's intimate association during a lifetime spent on Bentinck Island. These sites are associated with tidal movement, seasonal change, major climatic events such as drought, and flood, and the presence of plants, sea birds, animals, and aquatic life. Gabori was mindful of the ebb and flow of life over all the seasons that made up her long life. As Djon Mundine eloquently put it. 'Her works can be thought of as a memory walk, and a mapping of her physical and social memory of Bentinck Island'.*

* Djon Mundine, The Road to Bentinck Island: Sally Gabori, in The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Macmillan Art Publishing, Melbourne, 2015

COOEE ART GALLERY

A: 17 Thurlow Street, Redfern, NSW 2016. T: +612 9300 9233
E: info@cooeart.com.au W: www.cooeeart.com.au ABN: 89 614 431 319

Solo Exhibition

Thu, 25 Mar 2021 to Sat, 10 Apr 2021

Cooee Art Redfern

COOEE ART

Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Gabori Sally

Dibirdibi Country, 2008

synthetic polymer paint on linen #19010

100 x 197 cm

Framed: $ | Unframed: $

PROVENANCE

Mirndiyun Gununa, Mornington Island Arts, Qld
Pat Corrigan Collection, NSW

Illustrated: The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Djon Mundine and Candida Baker, pg 83

Exhibited: Solo Exhibition Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Sally Gabori, Cooee Redfern, March 25 - April 10 2021

Sally Gabori first picked up a paintbrush in 2005 at 81 years of age. The Lardil people in the Kaiadilt community had little exposure to fine art, or any comparable form of mark-making, prior to that time. Traditional tools, objects, or bodies were scarcely painted, and the only recorded art that relates these stories was a group of drawings made at the request of ethnologist Norman B Tindale during his expedition to Bentinck Island in 1960, now housed in the South Australian Museum.

Her paintings are essentially concerned with meaningful sites, known through the artist's intimate association during a lifetime spent on Bentinck Island. These sites are associated with tidal movement, seasonal change, major climatic events such as drought, and flood, and the presence of plants, sea birds, animals, and aquatic life. Gabori was mindful of the ebb and flow of life over all the seasons that made up her long life. As Djon Mundine eloquently put it. 'Her works can be thought of as a memory walk, and a mapping of her physical and social memory of Bentinck Island'*

* Djon Mundine, The Road to Bentinck Island: Sally Gabori, in The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Macmillan Art Publishing, Melbourne, 2015

COOEE ART GALLERY

A: 17 Thurlow Street, Redfern, NSW 2016. T: +612 9300 9233
E: info@cooeeart.com.au W: www.cooeeart.com.au ABN: 89 614 431 319

Solo Exhibition

Thu, 25 Mar 2021 to Sat, 10 Apr 2021

Cooee Art Redfern

COOEE ART

Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Gabori Sally

Dibirdibi Country, 2007

synthetic polymer paint on linen #19009

100 x 197 cm

Framed: $ | Unframed: $

PROVENANCE

Mornington Island Arts

Illustrated: The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Djon Mundine and Candida Baker, pg 125

Exhibited: Solo Exhibition Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Sally Gabori, Cooee Redfern, March 25 - April 10 2021

Sally Gabori first picked up a paintbrush in 2005 at 81 years of age. The Lardil people in the Kaiadilt community had little exposure to fine art, or any comparable form of mark-making, prior to that time. Traditional tools, objects, or bodies were scarcely painted, and the only recorded art that relates these stories was a group of drawings made at the request of ethnologist Norman B Tindale during his expedition to Bentinck Island in 1960, now housed in the South Australian Museum.

Her paintings are essentially concerned with meaningful sites, known through the artist's intimate association during a lifetime spent on Bentinck Island. These sites are associated with tidal movement, seasonal change, major climatic events such as drought, and flood, and the presence of plants, sea birds, animals, and aquatic life. Gabori was mindful of the ebb and flow of life over all the seasons that made up her long life. As Djon Mundine eloquently put it. 'Her works can be thought of as a memory walk, and a mapping of her physical and social memory of Bentinck Island'.*

* Djon Mundine, The Road to Bentinck Island: Sally Gabori, in The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Macmillan Art Publishing, Melbourne, 2015

COOEE ART GALLERY

A: 17 Thurlow Street, Redfern, NSW 2016. T: +612 9300 9233
E: info@cooeear.com.au W: www.cooeeart.com.au ABN: 89 614 431 319

Solo Exhibition

Thu, 25 Mar 2021 to Sat, 10 Apr 2021

Cooee Art Redfern

COOEE ART

Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Gabori Sally

Dibirdibi Country, 2008

synthetic polymer paint on linen #19006

100 x 198 cm

Framed: $ | Unframed: $

PROVENANCE

Mornington Island Art, QLD, Cat. No 3811-L-SG-1108

Private Collection, Vic

Cooee Art, NSW

Illustrated: The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Djon Mundine and Candida Baker, pg 94
Women In Colour, Manning Regional Gallery, Taree, NSW, 2022

Sally Gabori first picked up a paintbrush in 2005 at 81 years of age. The Lardil people in the Kaiadilt community had little exposure to fine art, or any comparable form of mark-making, prior to that time. Traditional tools, objects, or bodies were scarcely painted, and the only recorded art that relates these stories was a group of drawings made at the request of ethnologist Norman B Tindale during his expedition to Bentinck Island in 1960, now housed in the South Australian Museum.

Her paintings are essentially concerned with meaningful sites, known through the artist's intimate association during a lifetime spent on Bentinck Island. These sites are associated with tidal movement, seasonal change, major climatic events such as drought, and flood, and the presence of plants, sea birds, animals, and aquatic life. Gabori was mindful of the ebb and flow of life over all the seasons that made up her long life. As Djon Mundine eloquently put it. 'Her works can be thought of as a memory walk, and a mapping of her physical and social memory of Bentinck Island'.*

* Djon Mundine, The Road to Bentinck Island: Sally Gabori, in The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Macmillan Art Publishing, Melbourne, 2015

COOEE ART GALLERY

A: 17 Thurlow Street, Redfern, NSW 2016. T: +612 9300 9233
E: info@cooeeart.com.au W: www.cooeeart.com.au ABN: 89 614 431 319

Solo Exhibition

Thu, 25 Mar 2021 to Sat, 10 Apr 2021

Cooee Art Redfern

COOEE ART

Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Gabori Sally

My Grandfather's Country - Dingkiarri, 2008

synthetic polymer paint on linen #19005

101 x 151 cm

Framed: $ | Unframed: $

PROVENANCE

Mornington Island Arts

Illustrated: The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Djon Mundine and Candida Baker, pg 72

Exhibited: Solo Exhibition Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Sally Gabori, Cooee Redfern, March 25 - April 10 2021

Sally Gabori first picked up a paintbrush in 2005 at 81 years of age. The Lardil people in the Kaiadilt community had little exposure to fine art, or any comparable form of mark-making, prior to that time. Traditional tools, objects, or bodies were scarcely painted, and the only recorded art that relates these stories was a group of drawings made at the request of ethnologist Norman B Tindale during his expedition to Bentinck Island in 1960, now housed in the South Australian Museum.

Her paintings are essentially concerned with meaningful sites, known through the artist's intimate association during a lifetime spent on Bentinck Island. These sites are associated with tidal movement, seasonal change, major climatic events such as drought, and flood, and the presence of plants, sea birds, animals, and aquatic life. Gabori was mindful of the ebb and flow of life over all the seasons that made up her long life. As Djon Mundine eloquently put it. 'Her works can be thought of as a memory walk, and a mapping of her physical and social memory of Bentinck Island'.*

* Djon Mundine, The Road to Bentinck Island: Sally Gabori, in The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Macmillan Art Publishing, Melbourne, 2015

COOEE ART GALLERY

A: 17 Thurlow Street, Redfern, NSW 2016. T: +612 9300 9233
E: info@cooeeart.com.au W: www.cooeeart.com.au ABN: 89 614 431 319

Solo Exhibition

Thu, 25 Mar 2021 to Sat, 10 Apr 2021

Cooee Art Redfern

COOEE ART

Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Gabori Sally

Thundi, 2009

synthetic polymer paint on linen #19004

151 x 100 cm

Framed: $ | Unframed: $

PROVENANCE

Mornington Island Arts

Illustrated: The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Djon Mundine and Candida Baker, pg 102-103

Exhibited: Solo Exhibition Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Sally Gabori, Cooee Redfern, March 25 - April 10 2021

Sally Gabori first picked up a paintbrush in 2005 at 81 years of age. The Lardil people in the Kaiadilt community had little exposure to fine art, or any comparable form of mark-making, prior to that time. Traditional tools, objects, or bodies were scarcely painted, and the only recorded art that relates these stories was a group of drawings made at the request of ethnologist Norman B Tindale during his expedition to Bentinck Island in 1960, now housed in the South Australian Museum.

Her paintings are essentially concerned with meaningful sites, known through the artist's intimate association during a lifetime spent on Bentinck Island. These sites are associated with tidal movement, seasonal change, major climatic events such as drought, and flood, and the presence of plants, sea birds, animals, and aquatic life. Gabori was mindful of the ebb and flow of life over all the seasons that made up her long life. As Djon Mundine eloquently put it. 'Her works can be thought of as a memory walk, and a mapping of her physical and social memory of Bentinck Island'.*

* Djon Mundine, The Road to Bentinck Island: Sally Gabori, in The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Macmillan Art Publishing, Melbourne, 2015

COOEE ART GALLERY

A: 17 Thurlow Street, Redfern, NSW 2016. T: +612 9300 9233
E: info@cooeeart.com.au W: www.cooeeart.com.au ABN: 89 614 431 319

Solo Exhibition

Thu, 25 Mar 2021 to Sat, 10 Apr 2021

Cooee Art Redfern

COOEE ART

Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Gabori Sally

My Father's Country, 2008

synthetic polymer paint on linen #19003

197 x 100 cm

Framed: $ | Unframed: $

PROVENANCE

Mirdiyan Gununa, Mornington Island Arts, Qld
Pat Corrigan Collection, NSW

Illustrated: The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Djon Mundine and Candida Baker, pg 68

Exhibited: Solo Exhibition Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Sally Gabori, Cooee Redfern, March 25 - April 10 2021

Sally Gabori first picked up a paintbrush in 2005 at 81 years of age. The Lardil people in the Kaiadilt community had little exposure to fine art, or any comparable form of mark-making, prior to that time. Traditional tools, objects, or bodies were scarcely painted, and the only recorded art that relates these stories was a group of drawings made at the request of ethnologist Norman B Tindale during his expedition to Bentinck Island in 1960, now housed in the South Australian Museum.

Her paintings are essentially concerned with meaningful sites, known through the artist's intimate association during a lifetime spent on Bentinck Island. These sites are associated with tidal movement, seasonal change, major climatic events such as drought, and flood, and the presence of plants, sea birds, animals, and aquatic life. Gabori was mindful of the ebb and flow of life over all the seasons that made up her long life. As Djon Mundine eloquently put it. 'Her works can be thought of as a memory walk, and a mapping of her physical and social memory of Bentinck Island'*

* Djon Mundine, The Road to Bentinck Island: Sally Gabori, in The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Macmillan Art Publishing, Melbourne, 2015

COOEE ART GALLERY

A: 17 Thurlow Street, Redfern, NSW 2016. T: +612 9300 9233
E: info@cooeart.com.au W: www.cooeeart.com.au ABN: 89 614 431 319

Solo Exhibition

Thu, 25 Mar 2021 to Sat, 10 Apr 2021

Cooee Art Redfern

COOEE ART

Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Gabori Sally

My Country, 2009

synthetic polymer paint on linen #19002

197 x 100 cm

Framed: $ | Unframed: $

PROVENANCE

Mirdiyan Gununa, Mornington Island Arts, Qld
Pat Corrigan Collection, NSW

Illustrated: The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Djon Mundine and Candida Baker, pg 118
Exhibited: Solo Exhibition Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Sally Gabori, Cooee Redfern, March 25 - April 10 2021

Sally Gabori first picked up a paintbrush in 2005 at 81 years of age. The Lardil people in the Kaiadilt community had little exposure to fine art, or any comparable form of mark-making, prior to that time. Traditional tools, objects, or bodies were scarcely painted, and the only recorded art that relates these stories was a group of drawings made at the request of ethnologist Norman B Tindale during his expedition to Bentinck Island in 1960, now housed in the South Australian Museum.

Her paintings are essentially concerned with meaningful sites, known through the artist's intimate association during a lifetime spent on Bentinck Island. These sites are associated with tidal movement, seasonal change, major climatic events such as drought, and flood, and the presence of plants, sea birds, animals, and aquatic life. Gabori was mindful of the ebb and flow of life over all the seasons that made up her long life. As Djon Mundine eloquently put it. 'Her works can be thought of as a memory walk, and a mapping of her physical and social memory of Bentinck Island'*

* Djon Mundine, The Road to Bentinck Island: Sally Gabori, in The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Macmillan Art Publishing, Melbourne, 2015

COOEE ART GALLERY

A: 17 Thurlow Street, Redfern, NSW 2016. T: +612 9300 9233
E: info@cooeeart.com.au W: www.cooeeart.com.au ABN: 89 614 431 319

Solo Exhibition

Thu, 25 Mar 2021 to Sat, 10 Apr 2021

Cooee Art Redfern

COOEE ART

Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Gabori Sally

My Country, 2009

synthetic polymer paint on linen #19001

100 x 150 cm

Framed: $ | Unframed: $

PROVENANCE

Mornington Island Arts

Illustrated: The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Djon Mundine and Candida Baker, pg 116-117

Exhibited: Solo Exhibition Mirdidingkingathi Juwarnda Sally Gabori, Cooee Redfern, March 25 - April 10 2021

Sally Gabori first picked up a paintbrush in 2005 at 81 years of age. The Lardil people in the Kaiadilt community had little exposure to fine art, or any comparable form of mark-making, prior to that time. Traditional tools, objects, or bodies were scarcely painted, and the only recorded art that relates these stories was a group of drawings made at the request of ethnologist Norman B Tindale during his expedition to Bentinck Island in 1960, now housed in the South Australian Museum.

Her paintings are essentially concerned with meaningful sites, known through the artist's intimate association during a lifetime spent on Bentinck Island. These sites are associated with tidal movement, seasonal change, major climatic events such as drought, and flood, and the presence of plants, sea birds, animals, and aquatic life. Gabori was mindful of the ebb and flow of life over all the seasons that made up her long life. As Djon Mundine eloquently put it. 'Her works can be thought of as a memory walk, and a mapping of her physical and social memory of Bentinck Island'.*

* Djon Mundine, The Road to Bentinck Island: Sally Gabori, in The Corrigan Collection of Paintings by Sally Gabori, Macmillan Art Publishing, Melbourne, 2015

COOEE ART GALLERY

A: 17 Thurlow Street, Redfern, NSW 2016. T: +612 9300 9233
E: info@cooeart.com.au W: www.cooeeart.com.au ABN: 89 614 431 319